

FUN BY HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS

Class Day Exercises at Theatre Great Success.

WERE ENJOYED BY BIG CROWD

SENIORS WERE THE BUTT OF MANY JOKES.

THE Theatre was a scene of student fun last night that was made up of catchy music, merry laughter and school yells from the time the curtain went up until it was rung down. It was junior class day, and the programme presented for the special benefit of the seniors and the amusement of their friends was one of the most attractive that has perhaps ever been witnessed in the old playhouse.

It was a musical affair of no little merit, and it was voted a rousing success even by the seniors, who will precede their side of the story tonight. The programme consisted of a bright and catchy opera in two parts, in which the compliments of the day were exchanged with the members of the graduating class, and the juniors showed off their prowess to good advantage. Rounds of applause were accorded the performers, and several features of the programme were encored.

Long before the hour for the curtain to rise the Theatre was packed, even up to the regions commonly known as "negro heaven," and the atmosphere vibrated with deafening yells of class and school yells. The "freshies" from the second circle didn't let the quietude become oppressive to any one. The seniors in the dress circle waved their class colors and kept up their end of the class yells.

Musical Talent Displayed.
The music for the opera comprised selections from the late popular operas, and the words of the songs were right to the point. The words were composed by members of the class, and one march that made a "hit" with the audience was the composition of one of the junior boys.

While the Theatre orchestra played a lively march, the members of the class marched in from the wings and formed in a body on the stage, singing a lively class song. The girls were neatly attired in white dresses and jackets trimmed with blue fringes, and wore caps of the same color. The boys wore white trousers and black coats, with blue and white caps. These colors are the class colors, and the costumes presented a very pleasing appearance.

The officers of the class, Major Mark McChrystal, Captain Aleck R. Thomas, Lieutenant Will Nuttal and Ades Louis Farnsworth and Creighton Brown, attired in white duck military uniforms and bearing swords, marched in and took their places at the head of the class. Major McChrystal, the president of the class, made an introductory address that was pithy with good will and humor, and that provoked applause and laughter.

Captured a Senior.
The news was then brought that a senior had been captured in the junior camp, and while the class sang a lively song, Sir Nicholas Scantyllocks, "the whole thing in the senior class," was taken before the footlights in a cage that made a balloon ascension and left him amid his captors. The "captured" senior was then taken to the "senior camp," and was there subjected to a series of jokes and puns by Le Roy Bourne.

Sir Nicholas, in a minstrel lay, gave his opinion of the juniors, that was in reality the juniors' conception of the seniors. While the class sang a song, Sir Nicholas was taken to the "senior camp," and was there subjected to a series of jokes and puns by Le Roy Bourne.

The second part of the programme consisted of a pleasing drill by eight girls and eight boys attired in cavalry trappings and armed with swords. The participants wore campaign hats and yellow sashes, and performed a number of maneuvers while they sang a rousing march song, composed by William Sherman, a member of the class. The audience demanded a repetition of the drill with a prolonged encore.

Senior Gossips.

The feature of the evening's entertainment was then presented under the title of the "Senior Gossips." Three boys attired in a combination of formal attire, that in itself made the audience laugh until the tears began to flow, mimicked the characteristics and actions of three well known senior girls. Feminine gossip about the "freshies" was spun out in song, and the trio performed some dance steps that kept the audience in an uproar of laughter.

The parts were taken by Will Baleman, Fabulist Sherman and Roy Williams. The juniors rushed in en masse and took the seniors captive, while they sang another merry ditty.

Then the "Freshies" up to date were presented by a number of the juniors.

Who should just how the "freshies" look when he enters high school. Four of the junior boys appeared before the audience with a programme which they announced was the one the seniors proposed to present tonight, and sang a number of the songs. It happened, though, that the seniors had the programme printed for the special benefit of the juniors.

The entire class again appeared upon the stage and sang their "Good-Night" song.

AT ROWLAND HALL.

Light Graduates Addresses by Bishop Leonard and Rev. Mr. Perkins.

The commencement exercises of Rowland Hall were held at St. Mark's cathedral yesterday morning. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers, and the attendance of patrons and friends of the school was very largely larger. The exercises were very simple and unpretentious, but quite appropriate.

The eight graduates occupied prominent places near the rostrum, and the school occupied seats near the front. The regular Episcopal rites were performed, and music was furnished by the choir and members of the school. These in charge of the services did away with any special programme of music and confined that portion of the exercises to the church music.

Rev. Mr. Perkins of St. Paul's cathedral delivered the address to the graduates, and made a most eloquent and valuable talk to the young women who were just commencing the real life of life. Appropriate to the occasion he chose for his subject, "Character Building." In an entertaining and instructive manner he pointed out the necessity for establishing a stable and good character. Referring to the training in that direction given within the school work of making a character command and each one was cast upon life's storms and sunshine that come to every one.

After this address, Bishop Leonard, on behalf of the school, made a neat speech to the graduates in which he urged them to remember their school training and the greater responsibilities of life. He concluded by presenting the diplomas to the graduates.

Those to receive the diplomas were: Miss Lila Gooding, Miss Lila Raymond, Miss Reta Hyndman, Miss Gertrude Marvin, Miss Bessie Chandler, Miss Louise Lanson, Miss Olga Swenson and Miss Janet Tietjen.

After the exercises at the church the graduates went to dinner at the Kenyon with Miss Colburn and some of the parents of the girls.

TO CONVERT MORMONS

Presbyterian Evangelists Are to Hold Tent Meetings in All Towns of the State.

At a meeting of the presbytery of Utah, held yesterday at the First Presbyterian church, the name of Sheldon Jackson college was changed to that of Westminster college, and final arrangements were made for a gospel tent evangelistic canvass of the state. An eastern evangelist has been secured and the Presbyterians propose to travel all over the state this summer with their tent, preaching the gospel as they see it to the Mormons, especially, and to all others who will listen.

The meeting was held at 2:30 p. m., and was attended by a large number of the Presbyterian ministers of the state. The first matter brought up was that of the name of the college. The presbytery has for some time thought it better to have the name of the college changed, and the matter was proposed some time ago. It met with general favor, and at the meeting yesterday the presbytery officially named the new college Westminster.

Dr. Wishard, who has been east attending the general assembly, was present, and brought up the matter of the gospel tent, which has been a pet project among the ministers of the state for some time. He reported that he had secured the services of the Rev. Thomas C. Smith of Ohio to assist him in the evangelistic services, and that everything was now in readiness to commence the work. It was decided at the meeting to pitch the tent during the latter part of next week at Farmington, and hold services there for two or three weeks at least.

Dr. Wishard and Mr. Smith will devote their whole time for the summer to the work, and other ministers of the Presbyterian church of the state will assist at intervals. It is their purpose to move the tent from one town to another, holding meetings of a week or two weeks' duration in each place. All of the small towns, especially in the outlying districts of the state, where there is little other religion than Mormonism, will be visited. Those who are fathering the project hope to be able to travel over the greater part of the state during the summer and early fall, and they feel confident that a good work can be accomplished.

A special effort will be made, it is said, to reach the Mormon element in each place and present to them the gospel as it is understood by exponents of Presbyterianism. It is also stated that tracts presenting the contrast between Mormonism and religion according to the Gentile world will be carried along and left in places where it may be productive of good results.

It is not the purpose of the ministers, it is said, to make tirades against Mormonism, but simply to present the Bible teachings and try to get the people to draw their own conclusions. The Presbyterians believe that in the outlying districts, where little else than Mormonism is taught or heard, there is a good field for work along other lines of religion, and they propose to take advantage of it.

MORE PROTESTS MADE.

Big Companies That Think They Are Assessed Too High.

Protests against the annual assessment of the state board of equalization are slowly pouring into the office of the secretary of the board. Yesterday two reached the secretary, and more are expected today.

Early in the day the Western Union Telegraph company telephoned that they would like to enter a protest and have a hearing Friday or Saturday. Assistant General Superintendent C. B. Horton, stationed at Omaha, will arrive in the city to conduct the case for the telegraph company. The other company considering itself overtaxed is the Oregon Short Line. No time has been set for the hearing of the case.

The valuation put on the Western Union Telegraph company this year is $137,037, against $101,589 last year. The valuation placed on the Oregon Short Line this year is $5,182, against $4,382,185 the year preceding.

DR. HIGGINS INSANE.

Affliction Believed to Be But Temporary--Locked Up in Jail.

Dr. C. W. Higgins, the well known physician, who has been a familiar figure on Salt Lake's streets, became mentally unbalanced yesterday, and is now confined in a padded cell at the county jail. The doctor came to be suffering from a delusion that pirates are trying to kill him, and at his home yesterday morning he went around crowing like a rooster and yelling as if some one were trying to murder him.

Monday afternoon the doctor seemed to be in as good health and condition as usual, but when he arose yesterday morning, it is said, he began to act queerly and ramble in his talk. He declared that a pirate was trying to kill him, and went about the house, it is said, imitating a rooster and yelling. Nothing could be done to pacify him, and although he did not attempt to do any violence whatever, the police were called to take him in charge.

Officer Billy Hilton went to the residence in the patrol wagon, and induced the doctor to accompany him to the county jail. At the jail the doctor continued to talk in a rambling way about many things, and still insisted that some one was after him.

His sudden mental breakdown, according to the statement of the officers, is attributed to the use of drugs, to which, it is said, he had been addicted for some time. The officers say that once before he was affected in the same way, but recovered, and it is believed that this attack is only temporary.

Dr. Higgins has been in Salt Lake for twenty-five years or more, and is well known throughout the city for his aid in fine horses and old English rigs, in which he was wont to drive about the streets every evening, almost. His wife and family left only a few days ago for Los Angeles, and a message was sent them yesterday to return home immediately.
